

Stylist, Personal Shopper & Image Consultant,
Monique Marco

Monique's expertise is a combination of wardrobe, makeup, color, and image enhancement skills from a holistic perspective.

Monique's interest is to combine her twin passions of social good with her flair for style and fashion. She offers her exclusive ecoLove program, which encourages each client to examine their personal values and lifestyle, as well as consideration of healthy behaviors. As a result, a very special and unique style is created.

Monique resides in Hollywood, California and frequently visits New York City, where much of her family lives. Assignment proposals with travel requirements are welcome.

Monique holds certification from the Association of Image Consultants International (AICI), and a makeup artist diploma with color analysis training from The London School of Beauty and Make-up. The AICI has a fully operational salon and retail shop school where students perform supervised treatments on paying clients.

Monique was a former Peace Corps volunteer in Morocco, and she also engaged in volunteer work for Dress for Success, a nonprofit established to provide interview suits and career development to low income women. She was inspired by her mother and auntie, both cancer survivors, to volunteer as a makeup artist for Look Good, Feel Better (LGFB), where she professionally guided women through skin care and makeup regimes designed to combat the visible side effects of their treatments. These workshops are provided by LGFB through a network of hospitals, free of charge to recipients.

Monique's mission is to be eco-green savvy and healthy in all that she does.
