

Wardrobe Stylist & Personal Shopper, Adrienne D. Simmons

Adrienne is often referred to as a "style maven" by the women who have come to rely heavily on her fashion sense and styling expertise.

As a Wardrobe Stylist, Adrienne collaborates with her clients to discover, create and embrace a style they can ultimately own. Her practical approach to the art of dressing will help you take your eco-conscious wardrobe to the next level.

Born in New York, Adrienne currently divides her time between her homes in the Philadelphia suburbs and Miami Beach. Consider her your east coast connection, yet she is available to travel anywhere.

Adrienne is a member of the Association of Images Consultants International (AICI). She has developed a diverse list of organic, green and conventional clientele ranging from celebrities, to "up and coming" entertainers, as well as high-level executives and women re-entering the work force.

Adrienne recently worked with a Minneapolis-based recording artist where she collaborated with a team of photographers, hair stylists and make-up artists to create a theme for the project. She was the clothing and accessories decision maker who developed the perfected look for their promotional materials and premier CD-release party.

Adrienne continues to manage her own business, which provides both conventional and eco-green services for fashion-forward, sophisticated women. When she is not traveling to meet the demands of her clients or attending runway shows at New York's infamous Fashion Week, Adrienne volunteers her time to teach fashion and self-esteem classes to preteen girls at her local Boys and Girls Club. In addition, she is a volunteer Child Advocate Attorney with the Support Center for Child Advocates, an organization that represents abused and neglected children.

Adrienne's mission is to empower women to feel and look their best.
